Preface

The Austrian Code of Corporate Governance presented to the public on 1 October 2002 has become an indispensable part of the Austrian corporate governance system and is viewed by investors as well as by issuers as an effective instrument for building confidence. It is a benchmark for good corporate governance and corporate control on the Austrian capital market. The Corporate Governance Report, which was made mandatory by the Austrian Business Code Amendment Act 2008 (Unternehmensrechtsänderungsgesetz) for all exchange-listed companies, also provides for the inclusion of a declaration on any deviations from the recognized Corporate Governance Code thus heightening the significance of the Austrian Code of Corporate Governance.

According to the preamble of the Austrian Code of Corporate Governance, the Code must be reviewed annually in the light of national and international developments, and if necessary, amended. The 2009 revision of the Code emphasizes the goal of the Austrian Code to meet the most modern international and European standards and to incorporate any changes to national law quickly into the Code. When revising the Code, attention was given to ensuring a broad and transparent discussion with the involvement of all interest groups. Our special thanks are owed to the capital market participants and institutions that sent comments and actively took part in the discussion process. At this point, I would also like to thank the members of the Austrian Working Group for Corporate Governance who contribute with great commitment to the further development of the Austrian corporate governance system.

The international financial crisis will not remain without impact on the Austrian capital market. After five years of particularly successful development, the Austrian capital market is currently in a very difficult phase that is also marked by a loss of confidence. The changes to the Code are designed to support the efforts to regain investor confidence. Therefore, the Code's orientation on the sustainable and long-term creation of value added has been strengthened once again, transparency has been raised and the independence of supervisory board members broadened.

Further improvement in the corporate governance of Austrian listed companies is to be achieved, above all, by the flexible voluntary self-regulation pursuant to the „comply or explain“ principle. In this context, for the practical application of the Code it must be stressed that also all those companies are in compliance with the Code even if they do not adhere to the rules but have good reasons to explain why they deviate.

The revised version of January 2009 of the Code valid for the business years starting after 31 December 2008 will continue to make significant contributions to the promotion of confidence in the Austrian capital market.

I. Preamble

The Austrian Code of Corporate Governance provides Austrian corporations with a framework for the management and control of enterprises. It covers the standards of good corporate management common in international business practice as well as the most important provisions of Austrian corporation law that are of relevance in this context. A general overview of Austrian corporation law is given in the Annex 4.

The Code aims to establish a system of management and control of companies and groups that is accountable and is geared to creating sustainable, long-term value. This objective best serves the needs of all parties whose well-being depends on the success of the enterprise.

The Code is designed to increase the degree of transparency for all stakeholders.

This Code is addressed primarily to Austrian exchange-listed companies including exchange-listed European companies (Societas Europaea) registered in Austria. In the case of European companies registered in Austria that have a one-tier system (administrative board), the C- and R-rules of the Code relating to the management board shall apply accordingly to the managing directors; the C- and R-rules regarding the supervisory board shall apply accordingly to the administrative board.

It is also recommended that companies not listed on stock exchanges follow this Code to the extent that the rules are applicable.

The Code is based on the provisions of Austrian corporation law, securities law and capital markets law, the EU recommendations on the tasks of supervisory board members and on the remuneration of directors as well as on the principles set out in the OECD Principles of Corporate Governance.

Companies voluntarily undertake to adhere to the principles set out in the Austrian Code of Corporate Governance.

All Austrian listed companies are therefore called upon to make a public declaration of their commitment to the Code. A declaration of commitment to the Austrian Code of Corporate Governance is mandatory for Austrian companies that want to be admitted to the Prime Market of the Vienna Stock Exchange.

Companies that are subject to the company law of another EU member state or EEA member state and are listed on the Vienna Stock Exchange are called on to commit themselves to adhere to a corporate governance code recognized in this economic area and to publish this commitment including a reference to the code complied with on their websites (link). Companies that are subject to the company law of a country that is not a member of the EU or EEA and are listed on the Vienna Stock Exchange are called on to commit themselves to comply with the Austrian Code of Corporate Governance. The non-mandatory L-rules of the Code are interpreted in this case as C-rules.

In the interest of the greatest degree of transparency, all foreign companies listed on the Vienna Stock Exchange are called on to publish the provisions of the company law that applies to them on their websites, at least with respect to the rules mentioned in Annex 3, and to maintain this information up to date.

Generally, the Code will be reviewed once a year taking relevant national and international developments into consideration, and will be adapted if required.

The English version of the Code is a translation from the German. However, the German version shall prevail in the event of a dispute.

Notes to the Code

In addition to the most important statutory requirements under Austrian law, the Code also contains rules which are considered common international practice. Non-compliance with these rules must be explained and the reasons stated. The Code also contains rules that go beyond these requirements and should be applied on a voluntary basis. The Code comprises the following categories of rules:

1. Legal requirement (L): This rule refers to mandatory legal requirements.¹

2. Comply or explain (C): This rule is to be followed; any deviation must be explained and the reasons stated in order to be in compliance with the Code.

¹ Certain legal provisions apply only to companies listed on the stock exchange in Austria. These rules are to be interpreted as a C-rule for companies not listed on the stock exchange. The wording of the L-rules does not necessarily match the exact wording of the respective laws, but has been adapted to match the terminology of the Code. It is not the intention of the authors to change the interpretation of statutory provisions.

3. Recommendation (R): The nature of this rule is a recommendation; non-compliance with this rule requires neither disclosure nor explanation.

For rules that apply not only to the listed company itself, but also to its associated group companies, the term “enterprise” is used instead of “company”. The special rules applicable to banks and insurance companies shall not be affected by the Code. The rules of the Code do not require the disclosure of any company or business secrets.

II. Shareholders and the General Meeting

1. All shareholders are to be treated equally under the same conditions. The requirement to treat all shareholders equally shall apply, in particular, to institutional investors, on the one hand, and to private investors, on the other hand.

L

2. Shares are to be construed in accordance with the principle of one share – one vote.

C

3. Acceptance or rejection of takeover bids shall be decided solely by the shareholders. The management board and the supervisory board are required to present a balanced analysis of the opportunities and risks of an offer to the persons addressed by the takeover bid.

L

The price of a mandatory bid or of a voluntary bid with the purpose of attaining a controlling interest pursuant to the Takeover Act shall not be below the highest monetary consideration paid or agreed-upon by the offerer or a party acting in concert with the offerer within the past twelve months prior to the announcement of the bid for the shares of the target company. Furthermore, the price must correspond at least to the average market price weighted by the respective trading volumes for the shares over the past six months prior to the day of the announcement of the intention to make a bid.

4. A general meeting must be convened at least three weeks in advance. The invitation to the general meeting, the announcement of the agenda, the motions and documents to be presented to the shareholders, which must be made available from the date the meeting has been convened for inspection by the shareholders, as well as any other motions or counter motions from shareholders that have been brought to the attention of the company in a timely manner shall be made available on the company's website for downloading at least one week in advance.

5. The candidates for the supervisory board elections must be notified to the company in a timely manner so that these can be announced on the website of the company one week before the general meeting. C

6. The voting results of the general meeting as well as any changes to the articles of incorporation of the company are to be disclosed immediately on the website of the company. C

7. The company supports its shareholders in participating in general meetings and in exercising their rights as far as possible. This is to be considered when planning the venue and time of the general meeting, when defining the requirements of participation and the exercising of voting rights, and with respect to the right to be heard and receive information. R

8. The general meeting has the right to authorize the management board for a period not exceeding thirty months to buy back the company's own shares up to a maximum of 10% of the share capital in those cases permitted by law. The resolution and authorization for the buyback are to be published immediately before execution. The resolution and immediately before implementation the execution of this buyback authorization shall be disclosed. L

III. Cooperation between the Supervisory Board and the Management Board

9. The management board shall provide the supervisory board periodically and in a timely manner with comprehensive information on all relevant issues of business developments including an assessment of the risks prevalent and the risk management in place at the company and at group companies in which it has major shareholdings. If an event of major significance occurs, the management board shall immediately inform the chairperson of the supervisory board; furthermore, the supervisory board shall be immediately informed of any circumstances that may have a material impact on the profitability or liquidity of the company (special report). Ensuring that the supervisory board is supplied with sufficient information is a joint task of the management board and the supervisory board. Members of the boards and the staff members involved are obliged to maintain strict confidentiality.
10. Under the principles of good corporate governance, an enterprise's management is conducted through open discussions between the management board and the supervisory board as well as within these bodies themselves.
11. The management board shall agree on the strategic direction of the enterprise with the supervisory board and shall periodically discuss the progress made on implementing the strategy.

L

- 12. The materials and documents required for a supervisory board meeting are to be made available generally at least one week before the respective meeting.

C

IV. Management Board

Scope of Competence and Responsibilities of the Management Board

13. The management board shall have sole responsibility for managing the enterprise and shall endeavour to take into account the interests of the shareholders, of the employees and the public good. L

14. Fundamental decisions shall be reached by the entire management board. Such decisions shall include, in particular, the concrete formulation of goals of the enterprise and the definition of the enterprise's strategy. In the case of significant deviations from projected figures, the management board shall immediately inform the supervisory board. L

15. The management board shall be responsible for the implementation of the decisions it takes. L

16. The management board shall be made up of several persons, with one member acting as the chairperson of the management board. Internal rules of procedure of the management board shall define the distribution of responsibilities and the mode of cooperation between management board members. Names, date of birth, date of initial appointment and the end of the current period of tenure of the members of the management board as well as assignments of competence in the management board must be reported in the Corporate Governance Report. Furthermore, any supervisory board mandates and comparable functions of members of the C management board in other Austrian and foreign companies must be disclosed in the Corporate Governance Report unless these are included in the consolidated financial statements.

17. The management board shall have overall responsibility for communications tasks that significantly impact the image of the enterprise as perceived by stakeholders, and may receive support in carrying out these tasks from the relevant departments of the enterprise. C

18. Depending on the size of the enterprise, a separate staff unit is to be set up for internal auditing, which shall report to the management board, or the task of conducting internal audits may be contracted out to a competent institution. At least once a year, a report on the auditing plan and any material findings is to be presented to the audit committee. C

Rules Governing Conflicts of Interest and Self-dealing

19. Persons who discharge managerial responsibilities at a company and persons having a close relationship to them must report to the Financial Market Authority and disclose all trades for their own account in the company's shares or equivalent securities that have been admitted to listing on a regulated market as well as any trades in related derivatives² L

² Article 48a par. 1 fig. 8 Stock Exchange Act contains a definition of those persons who have managerial responsibilities at a company; these are persons who a) belong to an administrative, management or supervisory body of a company, or b) are a senior executive who is not a member of the bodies referred to in lit. a) but regularly have access to inside information relating, directly or indirectly, to the company and the power to take managerial or pertaining to affiliated companies³ within five workdays as of the trade execution day. Trades executed with a total value of less than EUR 5,000 within one year do not need to be reported or disclosed. When calculating the total value of the trades executed the trades of all persons with management positions and of all persons closely related to such persons shall be added. The disclosure may also be done through the Financial Market Authority.

20. To prevent insider dealings, the company shall issue internal guidelines governing the passing on of information, shall monitor compliance with said guidelines and keep a list of persons who are in the company's employ under a work contract or otherwise, and regularly or on ad hoc basis have access to inside information (list of insiders). The company shall apply the provisions of the Compliance Decree for Issuers issued by the Financial Market Authority.

21. The management board shall take measures to ensure that the provisions of the Compliance Decree for Issuers are implemented throughout the entire enterprise.

22. The management board shall make its decisions without being influenced by its own interests or the interests of controlling shareholders, on the basis of the facts and in compliance with applicable laws.

decisions affecting the future developments and business prospects of the company. Article 48a par. 1 fig. 9 Stock Exchange Act contains a definition of those persons who have a close relationship to a person who discharges managerial responsibilities at an issuing company of financial instruments.

³Art. 228 par. 3 Business Code

- 23. The members of the management board must disclose to the supervisory board any material personal interests in transactions of the company and group companies as well as any other conflicts of interest. Furthermore, they shall also immediately inform the other members of the management board of this. L
- 24. All transactions between the company or a group company and the members of the management board or any persons or companies with whom the management board members have a close relationship must be in line with common business practice. The transactions and their conditions must be approved in advance by the supervisory board with the exception of routine daily business transactions. L
- 25. Without the approval of the supervisory board, members of the management board shall not be permitted to run an enterprise or assume a mandate on the supervisory board of another company unless such company⁴ is part of the group or it is associated by a business interest in such company . Neither shall members of the management board be permitted without the approval of the supervisory board to engage in business dealings in the same branch of the company for their own account or for the account of third parties or to own other business enterprises as a personally liable partner. L
- 26. Members of the management board shall not hold more than four supervisory board mandates (chairperson counts double) in stock C corporations that do not belong to the group. Companies that are included in consolidated financial statements or in which the company has an investment with a business interest shall not be considered non-group companies.

Any sideline business of senior management staff, especially any functions in bodies of other companies shall require the approval of the management board unless such company is part of the group or it is associated by a business interest in such company. Statutory non-competition clauses applicable to management board members and senior management staff are not repealed.

Compensation of Members of the Management Board

27. The compensation of management board members including payments due to termination of the function shall be determined by the scope of the member's tasks, degree of responsibility and the extent to which the company's performance targets have been achieved, as well as by the economic situation of the company. Compensation consists of a fixed salary and a performance-linked component. The performance-linked component shall be geared, above all, to long-term and sustainable performance criteria. These principles shall also apply to the compensation paid to senior management staff accordingly.
28. If a stock option scheme is proposed, the parameters of comparison to be applied shall be defined in advance and may include, for example, the performance of stock indices, share price targets or other suitable benchmarks. Retroactively changing performance goals (repricing) is to be avoided. All changes are to be disclosed and explained. Blocking periods and exercise periods as well as the timeframe for exercising stock options are to be defined. When defining a stock option scheme, the goal of achieving long-term and sustainable value creation by the enterprise shall be kept in mind. Decisions on the introduction of stock option schemes and any changes relating to such schemes shall be taken at the general meeting.

29. The number and distribution of the options granted, the exercise prices⁵ and the respective estimated values at the time they are issued and upon exercise shall be reported in the annual report.

The total remuneration of the management board for a business year must be reported in the notes to the financial statements.⁶

30. In addition to the information required by law (L-Rule 29), the Corporate Governance Report shall contain the following information:

- The principles applied by the company for granting the management board performance-linked payments, especially regarding the performance criteria; moreover, any major changes versus the previous year must also be reported.
- The relationship of fixed to performance-linked components of total compensation of the management board.

⁵This is a brief version of the provisions of the Austrian Business Code, Art. 239 par 1 Figure 5. For precise details on the implementation, please refer to this provision.

⁶Unless an exemption exists pursuant to Art. 241 par. 4 Business Code.

- The principles of the company retirement plan for the management board and the conditions.
- The principles applicable to eligibility and claims of the management board of the company in the event of termination of the function.
- The existence of a D&O insurance, if the costs are borne by the company.

31. The fixed and performance-linked annual remunerations of each individual management board member are to be disclosed in the Corporate Governance Report for each financial year. This shall also apply if the remuneration is paid through a management company.

C

V. Supervisory Board

Scope of Competence and Responsibilities of the Supervisory Board

32. The supervisory board shall be responsible for overseeing the management board and shall provide support to the management board in governing the enterprise and, in particular, shall assist in making decisions of fundamental significance. L
33. The supervisory board appoints the members of the management board and has the right to terminate their employment. L
34. The supervisory board shall adopt internal rules of procedure for its work, which shall contain stipulations regarding the disclosure and reporting obligations of the management board, including subsidiaries, unless these obligations are defined in articles of incorporation or the internal rules of procedure of the management board. Furthermore, the internal rules of procedure shall define the establishment of committees and their scope of competence. The sections of the internal rules of procedure concerning these areas are to be disclosed on the website of the company. The number and type of committees set up and their decision-making scope of competence are to be disclosed in the Corporate Governance Report. C
35. In accordance with the Austrian Stock Corporation Act, the supervisory board shall formulate in concrete terms a list L of business transactions that are subject to its approval, and depending on the size of the enterprise, shall define the appropriate limits on amounts; this shall also apply to any major transactions concluded by subsidiaries that are of relevance to the group.

36. The statutory provisions according to which the supervisory board must meet at least once every three months shall be understood as a minimum requirement. Additional meetings must be held as required. If necessary, the items on the agenda may be discussed and decided by the supervisory board and its committees without the participation of the management board members.

The number of meetings of the supervisory board must be reported in the Corporate Governance Report.

The supervisory board shall discuss the efficiency of its activities annually, in particular, its organization and work procedures (self-evaluation).

37. The chairperson of the supervisory board shall prepare the meetings of the supervisory board and shall regularly communicate with the chairperson of the management board in particular, and discuss the strategy, the course of business and the risk management of the enterprise.

Appointment of the Management Board

38. The supervisory board shall define a profile for the management board members that takes into account the enterprise's business focus and its situation, and shall use this profile to appoint the ma-management board members in line with a predefined appointment procedure.

The supervisory board shall take care that no member of the management board has been convicted by law for a criminal act that would compromise the professional reliability as a management board member.

Furthermore, the supervisory board shall also give due attention to the issue of successor planning.

Committees

- 39. The supervisory board shall set up expert committees from among its members depending on the specific circumstances of the enterprise and the number of supervisory board members. These committees shall serve to improve the efficiency of the work of the supervisory board and shall deal with complex issues. However, the supervisory board may discuss the issues of the committees with the entire supervisory board at its discretion. Each chairperson of a committee shall report periodically to the supervisory board on the work of the committee. The supervisory board shall ensure that a committee has the authorisation to take decisions in urgent cases.

The majority of the committee members shall meet the criteria for independence of the C-Rule 53. The Corporate Governance Report shall state the names of the committee members and the name of the chairperson. The Corporate Governance Report must disclose the number of meetings of the committees and discuss the activities of the committees.

- 40. Irrespective of the size of the supervisory board, it shall set up an audit committee in the case of exchange-listed companies.

The audit committee shall be responsible for monitoring the preparations for the accounting procedures; for monitoring the work of the auditor; for the audit and preparation of the confirmation of the financial statements, of the proposal for the distribution of the profit, and of the report of the management board.

The audit committee shall also monitor the group accounting procedures, audit any consolidated financial statements and prepare a proposal for the selection of an auditor for the financial statements and shall report on this to the supervisory board.

Furthermore, the audit committee shall monitor the effectiveness of the company-wide internal control system, if given, of the internal audit system and of the risk management system of the company.

At least one person with special knowledge meeting the company's requirements and practical experience in the area of finance and accounting and reporting must belong to the audit committee (financial expert). The chairperson of the audit committee or financial expert may not be a person who in the past three years has served as a member of the management board or as management-level staff or auditor of the company or has signed an auditor's opinion or for any other reason is not independent and free of prejudice.

- 41. The supervisory board shall set up a nomination committee. In cases of supervisory boards with not more than 6 members (including employees' representatives) this function may be exercised by all members jointly. The nomination committee submits proposals to the supervisory board for filling mandates that become free in the management board and deals with issues of successor planning.

- 42. The nomination committee or the entire supervisory board shall present proposals to the general meeting for appointments to the mandates in the supervisory board that have become free.

In this case, primarily the principles of C-Rule 52, especially personal and professional qualifications are to be taken into account. Furthermore, the aspects of diversity of the supervisory board with respect to the international background of the members, the representation of both genders, and the age structure are to be taken into account.

- 43. The supervisory board shall set up a remuneration committee and the chairperson of this committee shall always be the chairperson of the supervisory board. Where supervisory boards have not more than six members (including employees' representatives) this function may be assumed jointly by all members.

The remuneration committee may be identical with the nomination committee. The remuneration committee shall deal with issues of compensation of the management board members and the contents of employment contracts with management board members.⁷

⁷ The co-determination rights of employees' representatives apply to all committees of the supervisory board except for committees that deal with the relations between the company and the members of the management board (see L-Rule 59).

Rules Governing Conflicts of Interest and Self-dealing

44. Members of the supervisory board cannot be members of the management board or permanent representatives of management board members of the company or its subsidiaries⁸ at the same time. Neither are they permitted to manage the company as employees. No person can be a member of the supervisory board of a company who is the legal representative of another company whose supervisory board includes a member of the management board of the company unless such company is part of a group or it is associated by a shareholding in such company. When reaching decisions, supervisory board members must not act in their own interests or in the interests of persons or enterprises with whom they have close relationships if such behaviour conflicts with the interests of the enterprise or serves to attract business opportunities to the said member that otherwise would have gone to the enterprise.

Before the elections, the persons proposed as members of the supervisory board must present to the general meeting their expert qualifications, their professional or similar functions and all circumstances that could give rise to cause for concern of partiality. The members of the supervisory board shall comply with provisions of the Compliance Decree for Issuers issued by the Financial Market Authority.

45. Supervisory board members may not assume any functions on the boards of other enterprises which are competitors of the company.

⁸Art. 228 par. 3 Business Code

46. If a supervisory board member finds himself or herself in a conflict of interest, he or she shall immediately disclose this to the chairperson of the supervisory board.

If the chairperson of the supervisory board finds himself or herself in a conflict of interest, he or she shall immediately disclose this to his or her deputy.

C

47. The granting of loans by the enterprise to members of the supervisory board shall not be permitted outside the scope of its ordinary business activity.

C

48. The conclusion of contracts with members of the supervisory board in which such members are committed to the performance of a service outside of their activities on the supervisory board for the company or a subsidiary for a remuneration not of minor value shall require the consent of the supervisory board. This shall also apply to contracts with companies in which a member of the supervisory board has a considerable economic interest.

L

49. The company shall disclose in the Corporate Governance Report the object and remuneration of contracts subject to approval pursuant to L-Rule 48. A summary of contracts of the same kind shall be permitted.

C

Compensation of Members of the Supervisory Board

50. The compensation of supervisory board members shall be fixed by the general meeting or shall be set out in the articles of incorporation, and shall be commensurate with the responsibilities and scope of work of the members as well as with the economic situation of the enterprise.

51. The remuneration for the financial year to supervisory board members is to be reported in the Corporate Governance Report for each individual member of the supervisory board. Generally, there are no stock option plans for members of supervisory boards. Should stock option plans be granted in exceptional cases, then these must be decided in every detail by the general meeting.

Qualifications of Members, Composition, and Independence of the Supervisory Board

52. When appointing the supervisory board, the general meeting shall take due care to ensure a balanced composition of the supervisory board with respect to the structure and the business of the company as well as the expertise and the personal qualifications of the supervisory board members. The general meeting shall pay attention that no member of the supervisory board is considered for appointment who has been convicted by law for a criminal act that would compromise the professional reliability as a supervisory board member.

The number of members on the supervisory board (without employees' representatives) shall be ten at most.

New members of a supervisory board must inform themselves adequately of the organization and activities of the company as well as of the tasks and responsibilities of the supervisory board members.

53. The majority of the members of the supervisory board elected by the general meeting or delegated by shareholders in accordance with the articles of incorporation shall be independent of the company and its management board. A member of the supervisory board shall be deemed as independent if said member does not have any business or personal relations to the company or its management board that constitute a material conflict of interests and is therefore suited to influence the behaviour of the member.

The supervisory board shall define on the basis of this general clause the criteria that constitute independence and shall publish them in the Corporate Governance Report. The guidelines in Annex 1 shall serve as further orientation. According to the criteria defined, it shall be the responsibility of every member of the supervisory board to declare its independence vis-à-vis the supervisory board. The Corporate Governance Report shall clearly explain which members are deemed independent according to this assessment.

54. In the case of companies with a free float of more than 20%, the members of the supervisory board elected by the general meeting or delegated by shareholders in accordance with the articles of incorporation shall include at least one independent member pursuant to C-Rule 53 who is not a shareholder with a stake of more than 10% or who represents such a shareholder's interests. In the case of companies with a free float of over 50%, at least two members of the supervisory board must meet these criteria. The Corporate Governance Report must indicate which members of the supervisory board meet these criteria.

55. The chairperson of the supervisory board shall not be the former chairperson of the management board unless a period of two years has expired between the termination of the function as chairperson of the management board and the start of the function as chairperson of the supervisory board.

56. Members of the supervisory board shall not have more than eight mandates (function of chairperson shall count double) as supervisory board members for listed companies.

L

57. Supervisory board members serving on the management board of a listed company may not hold more than four positions on supervisory boards (position of chairperson counts double) of stock corporations not belonging to the group. Companies that are included in consolidated financial statements or in which the company has an investment with a business interest shall not be considered non-group companies.

C

58. The Corporate Governance Report shall state the chairperson and vice chairperson as well as the name, year of birth, the year of the first appointment of every supervisory board member and the end of the current period of office. Furthermore, other supervisory board mandates or similar functions in Austrian or foreign listed companies shall be published in the Corporate Governance Report or on the website of the company for every supervisory board member.

C

If a member of a supervisory board fails to personally attend more than half of the meetings of the supervisory board, this fact shall be stated in the Corporate Governance Report.

Co-determination

59. The co-determination rights of employees' representatives on the supervisory board form part of the statutory Austrian system of corporate governance in addition to the co-determination rights at the operational level in the form of works councils. The employees' representatives are entitled to appoint to the supervisory board of a stock corporation one member from among their ranks for every two members appointed by the general meeting (but not external members from the trade union). (Statutory one-third parity rule)

If the number of shareholder representatives is an odd number, then one more member is appointed as an employee representative. The one-third parity representation rule also applies to all committees of the supervisory board, except for meetings and votes relating to the relationship between the company and the management board members with the exception of resolutions on the appointment or revocation of an appointment of a member of the management board and on the granting of options on stocks of the company. Employees' representatives shall exercise their functions on an honorary basis and their appointment may be terminated at any time only by the works council (central works council).

The rights and obligations of employees' representatives shall be the same as those of shareholders' representatives; this shall apply, in particular, to the right to receive information and to monitoring rights, to the obligation to act with due diligence and to maintain secrecy and to their liability for failure to comply. In the event of personal conflicts of interest, employees' representatives shall abstain from voting, the same being applicable to shareholders' representatives.

VI. Transparency and Auditing

Transparency of Corporate Governance

60. The company shall prepare a Corporate Governance Report that contains at least the following information:

- Designation of a Corporate Governance Code generally recognized in Austria or at the respective stock exchange;
- Information on where it is publicly available;
- in case it deviates from the Comply or Explain rules of the Code, an explanation of the items concerned and the reasons for the deviation;
- If the company decides not to adhere to a code, then the reason why;
- The composition and working procedure of the management board and of the supervisory board and its committees.

61. The obligation to observe the Austrian Code of Corporate Governance is to be included in the Corporate Governance Report. Annex 2 of the Code includes the legally required information of the Corporate Governance Report and the summary of the information required by the C-rules of the Code.

The Corporate Governance Report is to be published on the website of the company.

Every shareholder shall have the right at the annual general meeting to request information on the Corporate Governance Report. The management board shall be responsible for reporting on implementation and compliance with the Code of Corporate Governance at the enterprise.

The individual bodies that are the addressees of the respective rules are responsible for compliance with the principles of corporate governance and for giving explanations on deviations therefrom.

62. The company shall have compliance with the C- and R-rules of the code evaluated periodically, but at least every three years, by an external institution and a report of the audit is to be published in the Corporate Governance Report.⁹

Financial Reporting and Disclosure

63. The company shall disclose – as soon as it gains knowledge thereof – any changes in the shareholder structure, if, as a consequence of the acquisition or disposal of shares in the company, the percentage of shares representing voting rights held by a shareholder reaches, exceeds or falls below the thresholds of 5 percent, 10 percent, 15 percent, 20 percent, 25 percent, 30 percent, 35 percent, 40 percent, 45 percent, 50 percent, 75 percent or 90 percent.

64. The company shall disclose on its website and in the annual report – if it has knowledge thereof – the current shareholder structure broken down by geographical origin and type of investor, any cross-holdings, the existence of syndicate agreements, restrictions on voting rights, registered shares and their related rights and restrictions. Current changes in voting rights (according to L-Rule

- 65. The company shall prepare the consolidated financial statements and the condensed set of financial statements contained in the half-yearly financial report in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), as adopted by the EU.

Annual financial reports shall be published at the latest four months after the end of the reporting period, half-yearly financial reports at the latest two months after the end of the reporting period, and shall be publicly available for at least five years. If the company prepares quarterly reports for the first and the third quarter in accordance with IFRS, then these shall be published at the latest 60 days after the end of the reporting period.

In the case that the company does not prepare quarterly reports in accordance with IFRS, the interim management statements of the first and third quarter must be published at the latest six weeks after the end of the reporting period.

- 66. The company shall prepare quarterly reports in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards, as adopted by the EU (IAS 34).

The management board shall explain in the annual and interim reports the reasons for and effects of any material changes or deviations affecting the current and/or subsequent business year as well as any material deviations from previously released sales-revenues, earnings and strategy targets.

67. The enterprise shall establish external communication structures beyond legal mandatory requirements to meet information demands timely and adequately, in particular, by use of the company's website. The company shall disclose any new facts that it communicates to financial analysts and similar users at the same time to all its shareholders.

C

68. The company shall publish annual financial reports, half-yearly financial reports and any other interim reports in English and German language, and shall make these available on the company's website.¹⁰

If the annual financial report contains consolidated financial statements, the financial statements prepared under business law contained in the annual report need to be published and made available only in German language.¹¹

69. The company shall present an adequate analysis in the consolidated management report on the course of business and shall describe the essential financial and non-financial risks and uncertainties the company is exposed to as well as the most important features of the internal control system and of the risk management system with respect to the accounting process.

L

70. The company shall describe the main risk management instruments used with respect to non-financial risks in the consolidated management report.

Investor Relations and the Internet

- 71. The company shall immediately disclose any inside information that directly relates to it as well as any substantial changes to such information (ad hoc disclosure). It shall also immediately disclose any relevant coming into existence of a set of circumstances or occurrence of an event – even if these have not yet transpired. The company shall display all inside information, which it is under the obligation to disclose to the public, on its website¹² for an adequate period of time. A listed company may postpone the disclosure of inside information if such disclosure would be damaging to its legitimate interests, but only if the suppression of such inside information would not be misleading to the public and the listed company is in a position to guarantee the confidentiality of the information. The Financial Market Authority must be informed immediately of any postponement of the disclosure of inside information.
- 72. The company shall appoint a contact person for investor relations and shall disclose this person's name and contact numbers and address on the company's website.
- 73. The management board shall immediately post any director's dealing¹³ reported on the company's website and shall keep such information on the website for at least three months. The announcement can also be done by making a reference to the corresponding website of the Financial Market Authority.

¹²Also refer to the Disclosure and Reporting Decree of the Financial Market Authority.

Audit of the Financial Statements

77. The audit of the consolidated financial statements shall be conducted according to internationally recognised auditing principles (International Standards of Auditing, ISA). C
78. The independence of the auditor is essential for conducting a thorough and unbiased audit, in particular, no grounds for exclusion or self-consciousness should exist. The auditors shall ensure that any additional business relationships with the enterprise to be audited, such as consulting contracts, do not hinder their economic independence.
The principal auditors responsible for the consolidated financial statements are not permitted to assume a function on any corporate body of the company or in a management position for two years after signing the audit opinion. L
79. The auditor shall immediately inform the chairperson of the supervisory board and the chairperson of the audit committee of any reasons potentially constituting grounds for exclusion or self-consciousness that become evident in the course of the audit unless these are immediately eliminated. L
80. Before the proposal for the appointment of an auditor is made and before the auditor's election by the shareholders, the auditor shall present to the audit committee a written report on the following items: L
- License to audit stock corporations and a confirmation that no reasons for an exclusion from the audit exist.

- A list grouped by category of services of total fee income received in the past business year from the company.
 - Participation in a statutory quality assurance system.
 - Explanation of all circumstances that could give rise to a cause for concerns regarding self-consciousness.
 - Measures taken to ensure an independent audit.
- 81. Immediately after the vote, the supervisory board shall conclude the agreement with the auditor elected on the execution of the audit of the financial statements and on the fees to be paid. The fees must be commensurate with the tasks of the auditor and the expected scope of the audit. The audit agreement and the amount of the fees agreed on shall not be made contingent on any requirements or conditions and shall not depend on whether the auditor provides additional services to the audited company besides the auditing activities.
- 82. In addition to the statutory auditor's report and the obligation to make a statement, the auditor shall submit a management letter to the management board pointing out the weaknesses of the enterprise. The management letter shall be brought to the notice of the chairperson of the supervisory board. The chairperson shall be responsible for ensuring that the management letter is dealt with by the audit committee and reported on to the supervisory board.
- 83. In addition, the auditor shall make an assessment of the effectiveness of the company's risk management based on the information and documents presented and shall report the findings to the management board. This report shall also be brought to the notice of the chairperson of the supervisory board. The chairperson

Guidelines for Independence

A member of the supervisory board shall be deemed as independent if said member does not have any business or personal relations with the company or its management board that constitute a material conflict of interests and is therefore suited to influence the behaviour of the member.

The supervisory board shall also follow the guidelines below when defining the criteria for the assessment of the independence of a member of the supervisory board:

- The supervisory board member shall not have served as member of the management board or as a management-level staff of the company or one of its subsidiaries in the past five years.
- The supervisory board member shall not maintain or have maintained in the past year any business relations with the company or one of its subsidiaries to an extent of significance for the member of the supervisory board. This shall also apply to relationships with companies in which a member of the supervisory board has a considerable economic interest, but not for exercising functions in the bodies of the group. The approval of individual transactions by the supervisory board pursuant to L-Rule 48 does not automatically mean the person is qualified as not independent.
- The supervisory board member shall not have acted as auditor of the company or have owned a share in the auditing company or have worked there as an employee in the past three years.

- The supervisory board member shall not be a member of the management board of another company in which a member of the management board of the company is a supervisory board member.
- A supervisory board member may not remain on the supervisory board for more than 15 years. This shall not apply to supervisory board members who are shareholders with a direct investment in the company or who represent the interests of such a shareholder.
- The supervisory board member shall not be a closely related (direct offspring, spouses, life partners, parents, uncles, aunts, sisters, nieces, nephews) of a member of the management board or of persons who hold one of the aforementioned positions.

Annex 2

1. Mandatory information disclosures in the Corporate Governance Report pursuant to Art. 243b Austrian Business Code:

- Designation of a Corporate Governance Code generally recognized in Austria or at the respective stock exchange.
- Information on where it is publicly available.
- In case the company deviates from it, an explanation of the items and the reasons why.
- If the company decides not to adhere to a code, then the reason why.
- The composition and working procedure of the management board and of the supervisory board and its committees (see Item 2 below).

2. Information on the composition and working procedures of the management board and of the supervisory board as well as of its committees in the meaning of Art. 243 b par. 2 Austrian Business Code in the Corporate Governance Report of the company:

Composition of the management board

- Names, birth dates and date of initial appointment and end of current period of office of the members of the management board and name of the chairperson of the management board (C-Rule 16).
- Information on supervisory board mandates or similar functions of members of the management board in other domestic or foreign companies that are not included in the consolidated statements (C-Rule 16).

Composition of the supervisory board

- Name of the chairperson and deputy chairperson of the supervisory board (C-Rule 58).
- Presentation of the criteria defined by the supervisory board for independence pursuant to C-Rule 53.
- Presentation of the members that may be considered independent pursuant to C-Rule 53.
- Presentation which members of the supervisory board meet the criteria of C-Rule 54.
- Information on other supervisory board mandates or similar functions in domestic and foreign exchange-listed companies for each member of the supervisory board (C-Rule 58).
- Members of the committees and name of the chairpersons of the committees (C-Rule 39).
- Note if a member of the supervisory board failed to take part personally in more than half the meetings of the supervisory board during a business year (C-Rule 58).
- If applicable, object and remuneration of contracts requiring consent (C-Rule 49).

Working procedure of the management board and supervisory board

- Information on assignment of competences in the management board (C-Rule 16).

- Number and type of committees set up and their decision-making powers (C-Rule 34).
- Number of meetings of the committees and activities report (C-Rule 39)
- Number of meetings of the supervisory board (C-Rule 36).

3. Disclosure of information on the remuneration of the management board and supervisory board

- Disclosure of the policies governing the remuneration system for the management board (C-Rule 30):
 - The principles applied by the company for granting the management board performance-linked payments, especially regarding the performance criteria; moreover, any major changes versus the previous year must also be reported.
 - The relationship of fixed to performance-linked components of total compensation of the management board.
 - The principles of the company retirement plan for the management board and the conditions.
 - The principles applicable to eligibility and claims of the management board members of the company in the event of termination of the function.
 - The existence of any D&O insurance if the costs are borne by the company.
- Disclosure of the fixed and performance-linked remuneration for each individual member of the management board for the financial year (C-Rule 31).
- Disclosure of the remuneration for each individual member of the supervisory board for the financial year (C-Rule 51).

4. Report on external evaluation if available

Annex 3

In the interest of the greatest degree of transparency, all foreign companies listed on the Vienna Stock Exchange are called on to publish on their website the provisions of the company law that applies to them, at least with respect to the rules mentioned below, and to publish this information on their websites and keep it up to date.

No subscription to own shares

The company shall not be permitted to subscribe to own shares.

A subsidiary, as a founder or subscriber to shares or when exercising subscription rights, shall not be permitted to acquire shares of the company. The effectiveness of such an acquisition shall not be affected by a breach of this rule.

Any person with the function of founder or subscriber or exercising subscription rights having acquired shares for the account of the company or of a subsidiary shall not be able to claim that he/she has not acquired shares for his/her own account. Such person shall be liable for the full amount paid in irrespective of any agreement with the company or with a subsidiary. Such person shall not be entitled to any rights granted by the share before the acquisition of the shares for his/her own account.

No repayment of paid-in amounts

No repayment of amounts paid in by shareholders shall be permitted; for as long as the company exists, shareholders shall only have the right to claim a share in the net profit reported in the financial statements unless distributions are ruled out by law or by the company's articles of association. The payment of the acquisition price in the case of permissible acquisitions of own shares shall not be considered repayment of paid-in amounts.

Profit distribution to shareholders

The share in the profit claimed by shareholders is defined by the percentages they hold in the share capital of the company.

If the paid-in amounts on the share capital have not been paid in on all shares in equal proportions, then the shareholders shall receive an amount in advance of the distributable profit of four percent of the amount paid in; if the profit is not sufficient, the amount to be paid out shall be fixed according to a lower rate. Paid-in amounts that have been effected in the course of a business year are taken into account proportionally according to the time expired since the payment.

The articles of association may define another type of profit distribution.

Changes to the articles of association

Any change to the articles of association shall require a resolution by the general shareholders' meeting. The right to make changes, which refer only to the version, may be delegated by the general shareholders' meeting to the supervisory board.

The resolution may only be reached if the intended change to the articles of association has been explicitly notified with respect to its material content and announced in a timely manner.

The legal validity of any definitions regarding special privileges, foundation expenses, contributions in kind and acquisitions in kind may be changed only after a period of one year has expired.

The resolution by the general shareholders' meeting shall require a majority of at least three-quarters of the share capital represented at the time the resolution is reached. The articles of association may replace this majority by another majority of the share capital represented, but the object of business of the company can only be changed by majority that represents a higher share in the capital. The articles of association may also define other conditions.

If the effective distribution proportion applicable to several classes of shares is to be changed to the disadvantage of one class of shares, the resolution of the general shareholders' meeting shall require the approval of the disadvantaged shareholders by a separate vote of said shareholders for the resolution to become effective; the provisions of sentence 1 and 2 of the preceding paragraph shall apply to these shareholders. The disadvantaged shareholders may only reach such resolution if the separate vote has been explicitly notified and announced in a timely manner.

Exclusion of subscription rights

In the case of a capital increase, every shareholder must be allotted upon his/her request a percentage of the new shares that corresponds to the share held in the share capital of the company up to that time.

The right to subscribe to new shares may be excluded in full or in part only in the resolution on the increase of the share capital. In such case, the resolution shall, in addition to the requirements of the law or articles of association regarding capital increases, require a majority of the votes that corresponds to at least three-quarters of the share capital represented at the time of passage of the resolution. The articles of association may replace this majority by a larger majority in the share capital and also define other requirements.

Acquisition of own shares

The issuer shall disclose the applicable national laws regarding the acquisition of own shares. The following information shall be provided:

- For which purposes the acquisition of own shares is permitted
- The maximum amount of the permissible share in the share capital of the company when acquiring own shares according to national law
- Provisions regarding the duration of a stock buyback programme

- The required resolutions including those of the competent bodies pursuant to national law and the percentage majority needed for the required resolutions
- The mandatory disclosures relating to the acquisition of own shares

The same shall apply accordingly to the selling of own shares.

Annex 4

Brief Overview of the Austrian Corporation Act

The following section contains a brief, and thus incomplete, overview of the main provisions of the Austrian Stock Corporation Act. The section has been written with the intent to make the Code easier to understand. This overview is not suitable for answering questions related to legal issues.

Since October 2004, a Regulation on the European Company has been in force. This Regulation permits the one-tier system (administrative council) with certain restrictions by adopting the corresponding articles of incorporation. However, this option is not discussed here further due to the lack of significance in practice up to now.

The Organisation of a Stock Corporation under Austrian Law

The organisational structure of Austrian stock corporations rests on three bodies: the general meeting, the supervisory board and the management board. This organisational structure is designed to ensure the separation of powers. The annual general meeting elects a supervisory board for a maximum period of five years, but may prematurely terminate this appointment by a qualified majority (the articles of incorporation may reduce this requirement to a simple majority). Upon a petition of a minority of 10% a court can prematurely remove from office for material reasons members elected by the general meeting and members delegated by shareholders. The supervisory board elects a chairperson for a maximum period of five years; it is possible for the supervisory board to call for the resignation of the chairperson prematurely for material reasons (violation of duties, vote of no confidence by the general meeting). The management board is solely responsible for running the company and shall not be subject to instructions from the annual general meeting nor from the supervisory board.

Certain transactions specified by law shall be subject to the prior approval of the supervisory board; monetary limits may be defined in the articles of incorporation or in the internal rules of procedure. The management board may present of its own accord, or, in the case of transactions subject to approval, the supervisory board may present motions for approval to the general meeting; this is a step usually taken in cases of fundamental restructuring of the enterprise (e.g. disposal of major divisions of the company).

Shareholders and the General Meeting

Shareholders are to be treated equally unless there are legitimate reasons justifying a differentiation, which may be the case, for example, in certain relationships between group companies. The rights of shareholders are exercised at the general meeting. At least once a year, an annual general meeting must be held (at the latest eight months after the end of the preceding business year).

An extraordinary general meeting may be convened at any time by the management board, the supervisory board or by minority shareholders owning 5% of the shares.

Shareholders have the right to ask questions and submit motions for approval at general meetings regarding all items on the agenda. Currently, there is no statutory obligation to announce in advance the motions prepared by the management board for the approval of the general meeting.

Basically, the general meeting shall decide by a simple majority of the votes cast. The law prohibits shares with more than one voting right. So-called non-voting preferred shares may be issued for which voting rights are suspended as long as preferred dividends are paid out in full (including any subsequent payments). In cases where the subscription rights of holders of preferred shares are to be altered, a special vote must be taken by the holders of preferred shares. Furthermore, the articles of incorporation may also limit the maximum voting rights that a single shareholder may have, regardless of the percentage of shares he or she holds in the company. In recent years, a clear tendency has emerged towards the principle of one share – one vote. At ordinary general meetings, the management board reports on the situation of the enterprise (and questions may be asked in this context) and submits the motion to distribute the profits as approved by the supervisory board. The shareholders are bound by the net profit reported on the balance sheet when deciding the profit distribution, thus the management board and the supervisory board ultimately have the final say in the dividend policy. Furthermore, the approval of the reports and activities of the management board and of the supervisory board are items on the agenda of annual general meetings, though such approval constitutes only an expression of trust and does not release the board members from potential liability. The general meeting elects the members of the supervisory board and the auditor of the financial statements. The general meeting passes resolutions on changes to the articles of incorporation (generally by a three-quarter majority) and company transformation measures (e.g. mergers, split-ups, also generally by a three-quarter majority).

The Supervisory Board

The number of members on the supervisory board is defined in the articles of incorporation; the supervisory board must consist of at least three members (exclusive of employees' representatives); the articles of incorporation can define a maximum number as well as a framework. Moreover, employees' representatives (group employees' representatives) are entitled to (but not obliged to) delegate one employees' representative for every two shareholders' representative to the supervisory board. Apart from this, the law prohibits members of the management board or employees from holding positions on the supervisory board as shareholders' representatives (except in connection with the co-determination rights of employees' representatives).

Decisions of the supervisory board are reached by a simple majority, and the employees' representatives do not have a special status.

A major role is played by the chairperson of the supervisory board who is responsible for the organisation of the supervisory board, its meetings and its collaboration with the management board.

The supervisory board must meet on a regular basis (at least four times a year). The annual projections and quarterly reports as well as special reports in cases of looming crises must be presented to the supervisory board. The supervisory board may at any time conduct exhaustive audits itself or may commission experts to conduct such audits. The supervisory board decides the approval of the annual financial statements and thus indirectly decides the amount of the dividend to be distributed. The supervisory board must audit the consolidated financial statements and approve them. The supervisory board may request experts to take part in its meetings.

Exchange-listed joint stock companies and very „large“ companies, i.e., companies that exceed by five times the size parameter (currently an annual turnover of more than EUR 192.5m and total assets of more than EUR 96.25m) expressed in euro (Art. 221 par. 3, first sentence in conjunction with paras. 4 to 6) must set up an audit committee in the supervisory board (for fully consolidated wholly owned subsidiaries, an exemption option exists). The original condition regarding the number of supervisory board members has been abolished.

The committee shall be charged with the tasks of auditing and preparing the resolutions to be passed by the entire supervisory board and of preparing a proposal for the appointment of an auditor for the financial statements. The chairperson of the audit committee or financial expert may not be a person who in the past three years has served as member of the management board or as management-level staff or auditor of the company or has signed an auditor's opinion.

The committee must hold at least two meetings per financial year and the auditor must attend these meetings. The tasks of the audit committee include the monitoring of the accounting procedures, the monitoring of the effectiveness of the internal control system, and if applicable, the internal audit and risk management system as well as the process of the auditing of the annual accounts and consolidated financial statements. The tasks of the committee consist of taking care that the corresponding processes are set up properly at the company and its subsidiaries from the standpoint of the group. Furthermore, the audit of the Corporate Governance Report is one of the tasks of this committee.

To ensure transparency and the independence of supervisory board members, their professional qualifications and experience must be presented before the elections, and furthermore, all circumstances must be explained that could give rise to concern of partiality.

Furthermore, approval must be obtained for contracts of the company or of its subsidiaries with members of the supervisory board for activities on behalf of the company or group outside of the supervisory board responsibilities. This shall also apply to contracts with companies in which a member of the supervisory board has a considerable economic interest.

The Management Board

The supervisory board takes decisions autonomously on the election and thus the selection of management board members, and on the establishment of the position of chairperson of the management board. If a chairperson is appointed to the management board, the chairperson shall have the casting vote unless a different procedure has been defined in the articles of incorporation for decisions of the management board in the event of a tie. Unlike German law, Austrian law does not prescribe the appointment of an employees' representative to the management board.

The management board is a collective body, meaning that by law responsibility for governing the business of the company is borne equally by all members of the management board. Differentiated assignment of responsibility is possible and is common practice (usually defined by the supervisory board). This is done by defining the areas of responsibility for each of the board members in the internal rules of procedure. If the areas of responsibility are divided among the members of the management board, each board member shall bear primary responsibility for his or her assigned area, although the other members shall still be under the obligation to constantly monitor and address any deficiencies they perceive in the other areas of responsibility. In the case of measures having a material impact as, for example, business transactions that must be presented to the supervisory board for approval, the collective responsibility of the management board shall be mandatory and indivisible.

Capital Increases and Subscription Rights

In the case of capital increases and the issuance of rights to new issues (bonds with attached warrants, convertible bonds), existing shareholders shall have subscription rights, which the general meeting may only exclude by a three-quarter majority vote if this move is justified by the facts of the case (e.g. in the case of contributions in kind).

This resolution shall be announced separately and shall require a written statement by the management board explaining the reasons and shall also be presented to the court that keeps the commercial register of companies.

The management board may be authorised to increase the share capital of the company within a defined scope with the approval of the supervisory board without requiring the prior approval of the general meeting (authorised capital).

This authorisation shall be limited to a period of five years, but may be prolonged repeatedly by the general meeting. Here as well, special reporting obligations apply if subscription rights are to be excluded. It may be assumed that relevant reasons exist for excluding subscription rights in the case of new issues for stock option schemes for employees, management-level staff or members of the boards of the company. It is also possible to authorise the issue of options on new issues exclusively to this group of persons with the prior authorisation of the general meeting. In this case, the management board shall be subject to extensive reporting obligations.

Share Buybacks

The acquisition of own shares is subject to substantial restrictions. The law permits the general meeting of a listed company to authorise the management board for a period of 18 months to repurchase up to 10% of the company's own shares. If this repurchase option is exercised, extensive disclosure requirements apply according to the provisions of the Stock Exchange Act.

The Capital Market

Austrian capital market law has implemented the EU legislation regarding the prohibition of insider dealings, the prevention of market manipulation and ad hoc reporting obligations and the reporting of transactions in the stocks of the company by managing employees or persons or institutions closely related to them.

Furthermore, the EU Prospectus regime applies to public offerings of stocks and derivatives adjusted to the amendments of Directive 2001/34/EC. The approval of the prospectus is the competence of the Financial Market Authority (FMA).

Austrian capital market legislation has passed into law the EU Directives on the prohibition of insider dealings, ad hoc disclosure and the reporting of acquisitions or disposals of shares exceeding certain thresholds; in some cases Austrian law has gone even beyond the minimum standards of the Directives.

In the case of a change in control at a company with its registered office in the EU/EEA that is listed on the Vienna Stock Exchange, a mandatory takeover bid is required as part of the implementation of the Takeover Directive when a change in the control of the company occurs. The requirement of a mandatory bid is assumed to apply in the case of the direct or indirect (active) acquisition of a share of 30% (alone or jointly with another legal person). In the case of an investment of more than 26% that does not trigger a mandatory bid, the voting shares exceeding the secured blocking minority of 26% are suspended. The mandatory bid that must be made in the case of a change in the controlling interest in a company must be in cash and must correspond as a minimum to the weighted average stock market price of the share during the last six months or to the highest price of the last 12 months paid by the party gaining the controlling interest, if the price is higher than the aforementioned average. The markdown of 15% permitted up to now has been abolished.

In the event of a takeover bid, the management board and the supervisory board are strictly prohibited from preventing the bid and are under the obligation to act impartially. The takeover procedure is accompanied and monitored by the Takeover Commission, an independent public authority. A mandatory bid is also required if a shareholder owning a percentage of between 30% and 50% acquires 2% additional or more of the shares of a company within one year (creeping in). Further information is available on the website of the Takeover Commission, www.takeover.at. Sections of the Takeover Act also apply to voluntary takeover bids even if there is no change in controlling interest. If a bidder reaches 90%, the bidder has the right to exclude the remaining shareholders at the offer price and takes over their shares.

Moreover, companies listed on the Vienna Stock Exchange are subject to the obligation to make a mandatory bid in cases in which the controlling interest in a company changes. This is assumed to be the case if shares amounting to 30% of a company's share capital are acquired. The mandatory bid that must be made after this change in the controlling interest in a company must correspond as a minimum to the average stock market price of the share during the last six months or to the highest price of the last 12 months paid by the party gaining the controlling interest less a discount of 15%, if the price is higher than the aforementioned average. In the course of the implementation of the EC Takeover Directive, the price markdown of 15% will be abolished. Further changes are being prepared.

The 15% discount may be excluded in the articles of incorporation and a number of listed companies have made use of this option. In the event of a takeover bid, the management board and the supervisory board are under the strict obligation to act impartially. The takeover procedure is accompanied and monitored by the Takeover Commission, an independent public authority. A mandatory bid is also required if a shareholder owning a percentage of between 30% and 50% buys 2% or more of the shares of a company within one year (creeping in). Further information is available on the website of the Takeover Commission, www.takeover.at. Sections of the Takeover Act also apply to voluntary takeover bids even if there is no change in controlling interest.

Groups and Company Transformations

Although Austrian company law does mention the concept of the group company, unlike German law it does not have a detailed legal framework applicable to all aspects of groups. The formation of a group does not automatically lead to the liability of the parent company for the entire group. Likewise, when forming a group company, there is no statutory obligation to make a tender offer to outside shareholders unless the provisions of the Takeover Act apply. In the case of combinations or split-ups of enterprises, special rights are granted to minority shareholders. In particular, a minority shareholder owning 1% or EUR 70,000 in par value stock, has the right to demand that the appropriateness of the conversion ratio – and in the case of split-ups this right applies to every shareholder who did not consent to the pro-rated split-up – offered in the tender offer be examined by a special court procedure. If the decision to correct the offer is reached, all shareholders benefit.

The 2006 Act on the Squeeze-out of Shareholders makes it possible for a shareholder owning 90% of the stocks to squeeze out the remaining minority shareholders by offering them an adequate cash tender offer. In this case as well, the cash compensation is subject to an examination by the courts, with all shareholders having the right to initiate an examination procedure (irrespective of any objection at the general meeting). Other squeeze-out mechanisms possible up to now are no longer permitted.

The Austrian Stock Exchange Act does not have any provisions for the delisting of a company. In practice, a company may be delisted on the grounds that it no longer fulfils trading requirements, in particular, that the required minimum amount of tradable shares no longer exists. A delisting currently does not call for a mandatory offer to outside shareholders. Generally, a delisting will only be possible in the future through squeeze-out procedures.
